

Vision, Valley & Revelation

A Getaway for Poets & Writers in Wales

August 14-20, 2010

PROGRAM

Join Peter Murphy in the country of his birth for an extraordinary writing getaway limited to just 15 participants. You will work each morning immersed in the idyllic setting which inspired Wordsworth and many other poets and writers. Peter, whose unique assignments have helped thousands find voice and direction, will challenge you to go deeper, whether you plan to begin new material or continue an ongoing project.

In your free time you may continue working, wander the beautiful grounds, explore a castle or two, swim, hike, go pony trekking or just relax. After dinner you will have the opportunity to share your new drafts during supportive feedback sessions. Whether you write poetry or prose, you will return home from this adventure energized by the magical setting and excited to continue writing. Register today. You won't regret it.

SETTING

Our group will have exclusive use of Caer Llan, a large country house in the Wye Valley with stunning views of Monmouthshire's peaceful countryside. Down the road from historic Tintern Abbey, this fairytale-like estate of gardens and woodlands comes complete with a natural soundtrack of chirping birds and bleating lambs.

You will dine on delicious locally sourced food, including full Welsh breakfasts, tasty lunches and three course dinners. All rooms have private (en-suite) bathrooms. There are a very limited number of single rooms available on a first-come, first-served basis.

Getting There

Caer Llan is 140 miles from London and an easy train ride to Newport, where we'll arrange for you to be picked up.

Optional Excursions

Mini-adventures will include visits to Tintern Abbey, castles and more.
